

Delivering for Goldfields-Esperance

The McGowan Labor Government is setting the Goldfields-Esperance region up for the long-term - diversifying the economy and creating jobs, boosting regional health and mental health investment by a record amount, and providing important cost of living relief for local households.

The McGowan Government's responsible financial management has enabled a record $12 billion investment in regional infrastructure, with only 8 per cent funded through Royalties for Regions.

WA's strong financial position gives the State Budget the capacity to invest a record $2.5 billion in health and mental health, ensuring all Western Australians receive quality healthcare, no matter where they live.

The McGowan Government is providing cost of living relief for households with the $400 Household Electricity Credit and keeping household fees and charges below inflation. This is on top of the more than $2 billion invested to ensure people in the regions pay the same for water and electricity as metropolitan users.

The $4.2 billion Royalties for Regions program will continue to deliver key regional projects and services to regional communities.
